

COUNTY HEADS QUESTIONED BY GRAND JURORS

Reconditioning Of Financial Structure Recommended At Tuesday Hearing

Changes in the financial setup of San Mateo County were advocated by the county grand jury, Tuesday evening of this week, after a hearing in which five county officials were questioned in secret.

Called before the jury were County Executive E. A. Rollison, Treasurer A. L. Sagehorn, Tax Collector Ambrose McSweeney, Assessor D. P. Flynn and District Attorney Gilbert Ferrell.

McSweeney declared the report of Hood and Strong, a San Francisco accounting firm, to be "absolutely unfair" and said he refused to be the "goat" for the faults of other departments.

The Hood and Strong audit directs two criticisms against the tax collector, it was learned.

Early Morning Fire Guts Beer Parlor

A fierce blaze of undetermined origin was discovered, Thursday morning of this week, in the building occupied by the Hilltop Beer Parlor on Hillcrest drive near Mission street.

It is believed the fire started in the hat check room, just inside the rear door of the main bar room.

Before the flames could be checked they raged through the entire rear portion of the building, where were located refreshment booths, a bar and dance floor.

The main structure walls and roof suffered little damage, but the interior walls, which were composed of thin ply wood, as well as the entire decorations of the rear rooms are a total loss.

The exact amount of the damage has not been determined, but is estimated to be in excess of $5000.

Both of these measures were scheduled for last session of congress, but were withheld by the length of the session.

Many of the issues have been foreshadowed by Roosevelt's recent western trip.

PLENTY OF STAYERS APPEAR IN OFFING

By J. W. MARCHBANK

When Menow won the Belmont Park Futurity, recently, there was some discussion as to whether he would be just another sprinter, as have so many winners of the two year old feature on the Metropolitan circuit, or would develop into a worth-while performer, able to carry his speed ten furlongs or even twelve.

It is to be hoped the son of Pharamond II and Alcibiades turns out an exception to the rule that this is a sprinting age and stayers can hardly be expected from the present system of breeding.

Pharamond II is an imported stallion of a highly successful line. His sire, Phalaris, is best known out this way as the progenitor of the phenomenally fleet Carlaris, stakes winner and sire. Lady Bowman, which will probably be one of the leading sprinters at the Tanforan fall meeting, is a daughter of Carlaris. Phalaris, it is unnecessary to say, is by Polymelus.

Going a bit further back is found Cyllene, sire of Polymelus. Cyllene was the progenitor of four winners of the Epsom Derby, which is at twelve furlongs. So, if there is anything in the "throw-back" theory, it may be the Futurity victor will be right at home next year in long contests.

Alcibiades, a name by the way that strikes us as somewhat peculiar for a mare, is by a son of Ultimus. That means speed, if nothing else. Alcibiades, it may be said, was an ancient Greek of the opposite sex to the present holder of the moniker.

Naturally a breeder aims at the production of fast animals. In addition to "foot," however, other qualities are needed in the high class racer, such as stamina and courage. It has always been my ambition to rear thoroughbreds that could run both fast and far and the record of Heather Farm shows I have achieved it.

Visitor From South

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ledterman of San Diego avenue entertained as their house guests, over last week-end, Ernest P. Ledterman of Los Angeles, who is Mr. Ledterman's nephew.

LOCAL PUPILS ARE INTERESTED IN BLINDCRAFT

The pupils of the seventh grade, Woodrow Wilson School, accompanied by their teachers Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Corral, visited the Blindcraft Institute in San Francisco, Friday of last week.

Miss Eastman, who is a noted instructor of Braille, gave an interesting talk to the students, explaining the origin of the Braille method of writing by Louis Braille, a Frenchman. She informed the children that the blind can become very efficient in reading, in some cases attaining a speed of two hundred words a minute.

A complete tour of the building was made and the students were able to see the people working at their various trades. Many of the pupils, who are in the craft class, were interested in the weaving. Beautiful pieces of woven furniture were on display in the main auditorium and the class enjoyed seeing such fine exhibits of craftsmanship made by people who had lost their sight.

Miss Heather Coons sang "My Dear" and "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony and Mrs. Josephine Gohl played the wedding march.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white moire taffeta. Her finger tip veil was held in place with a lace cap and crown of orange blossoms. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of gardenias and bovardia. Her sister, Miss Clara Hammer, dressed in pink moire taffeta, was the maid of honor. She wore a spray of dark pink sweet peas in her hair

TELL 'EM AND SELL 'EM!

When anyone tells you America consumes half the world's coffee, or three-fourths of the world's silk, remind him he's only telling you one half of the story.

To say the United States has a dozen times as many automobiles as all of Europe, or that 21,000,000 electric irons are in use in American homes, really omits the essential point that this isn't solely because of our nation's bountiful resources, or because we are essentially progressive people.

Our furnishings, vacuum cleaners, radios, are better and more numerous than those of any other nation, because the good inventive brains that made them were coupled with the desire of merchants and dealers to tell people about them, to acquaint housewives and heads of families with labor-saving devices for the home, with good buys in clothing.

It's progress of a sort, it's true, if someone devises a better washing machine, or produces a longer-wearing kind of cloth goods, or makes better ice cream than anyone else, but genuine progress takes place only when these items are enjoyed in large numbers of American homes, and not lying idle in a laboratory, store room or sales window.

The real push in progress comes when the world is told where it can get the best shirts, or pair of shoes, for the price, the best fifty-cent dinner, or the best new or used car that will fit the budget. If they're not advertised, the products can be locked up in a barn and the key thrown away.

Make a mouse trap better than anyone else, and the world will beat a path to your door—but first the world has to know about the mouse trap, what it sells for, and where it can be had.

SIT-DOWN IN THE ARCTIC

Since the turn of the year, news dispatches have brought us word of all manner of strange sit-down strikes. But word has just come concerning the coldest sit-down ever heard of—on sheets of ice! Up in the Bering Sea, off the mouth of the Yukon River, Eskimos staged a sit-down to get a 50-cent pay increase for casting the lines of a schooner loose from the shore. But their labor front was not united. Young Eskimos started for the lines in their kyaks, and a fierce battle followed during which the "scabs" were routed, the skipper got the lines loose without any Eskimos, and the schooner set sail. At last we know the frigid climate of the bleak Arctic is no guarantee whatsoever against hot tempers, labor disputes, and rising wage-costs.

Madera To Stage Old Timers Day

Madera is busy with plans for its annual Old Timers Day, set for Saturday, October 30, and many former residents are planning to return for the occasion.

Providing an added attraction this year will be the Madera County Fair, October 29 to 31.

There will be two parades, one consisting of early day features and the other in a contrasting modern spirit.

County Fair directors are providing a half mile race track, grandstand, cattle display, stalls and a large tent for exhibits.

Various Units To Take Instruction

The annual school of instruction for the American Legion Auxiliary will be held in Alameda, Monday morning of next week, at 10 o'clock.

This school will be presided over by Mrs. Pauline Ellison, department president of the State of California. The majority of the state chairmen will be present, and will conduct round table discussions on the various phases of their work.

All units are urged to send as many local chairmen and members as possible to this meeting.

Luncheon will be served by the Alameda Unit and reservations should be sent in as soon as possible.

INVESTORS TO HAVE BETTER PROTECTION

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

Members of the Securities and Exchange Commission have selected William O. Douglas as chairman. The selection did not please Wall Street, although probably satisfactory to President Roosevelt. Douglas succeeds James Landis, who went to Harvard as dean of the law school.

Liberals are hoping the SEC will become an effective advocate for investors in controlling the issue of securities, operations on the exchange, reorganization of corporations and of holding company structures.

A study of the work of the new chairman while a member of the commission leads to the conclusion he is determined to uphold the rights of the people in every way possible. Strong force, it is needless to say, will be exerted to thwart him in his endeavor.

The recent death of Edward A. Filene, the great merchant, removes from the scene a real liberal. As has often been pointed out, Filene was one of the few business leaders to become an advocate of the New Deal, as promulgated by the President. He was a strong fighter for higher wages and lower prices. He held the apparently contradictory condition could be achieved through increasingly mechanized mass production.

Filene gave the name of "companionate prosperity" to his ideal. According to his notions, everyone in the country should be able to maintain a decent standard of living. A large employer himself, he said employers could only survive by fair treatment of their employees.

The late financier took great interest in the credit-union movement, a development of recent years. He also started the Consumers Distribution Corporation, an organization for the building of co-operative department stores in all districts of the various states.

The Farm Credit Administration has announced that the number of credit unions in the Federal Credit Union Co-Operative Association has increased to 2236 from an insignificant number. Loans amounting to $11,152,100 were outstanding at the end of the fiscal year.

The director of the Federal Credit Union said that more than 155,000 employees of industrial firms and other organizations, whose members have organized federal credit unions, had loans outstanding at the end of the fiscal year averaging $71 each.

He stated employees of the federal government have chartered the largest number of federal credit unions. Employees of oil companies come second, school and college teachers third, and employees in stores fourth.

The average membership of each credit union increased from 166 to 206 in one year. The average saving of individual members increased from $23 to $33 from the end of June of last year to the end of June of this year.

California is among the leaders in the number of federal credit unions with 154. Pennsylvania is first with 266, with New York a close second with 262 unions.

The first of the credit unions was formed three years ago and since that time more than 493,000 loans have been made, totaling the substantial sum of $31,339,500.

Will Rebuild Fire Leveled Structures

Plans are being made to build up from the ashes the Kingston Bedding Company and the Gymkhana Club, the San Mateo structures destroyed by fire, Saturday of last week.

Loss incurred by the mattress factory ran to more than $3000 with about 60 per cent being covered by insurance. One new machine, valued at $1000, was completely destroyed by the blaze, reports said.

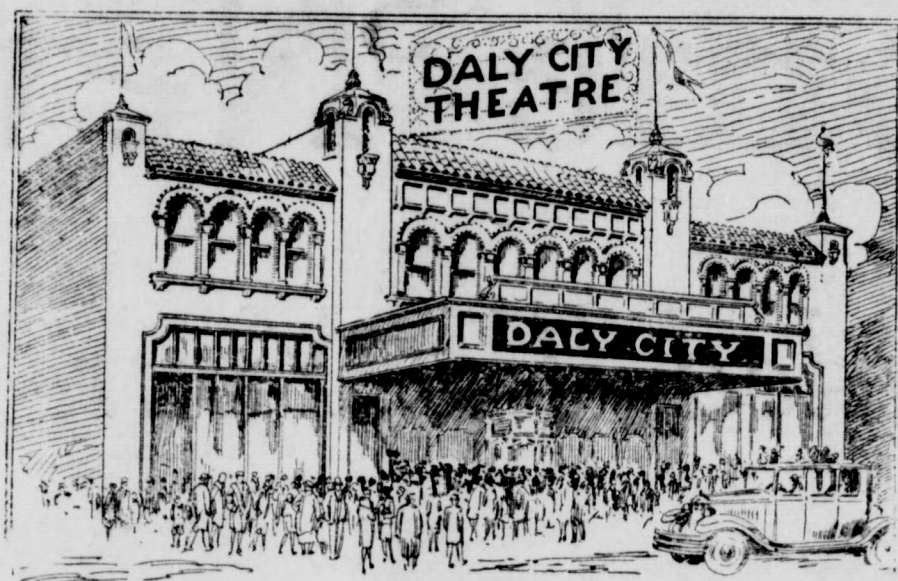

Meanwhile, activities at the Gymkhana Club were scheduled to continue as usual following the $70,000 fire which took the lives of 37 blooded horses housed in the stable buildings.

Native Daughters San Rafael Fiesta

Early Spanish days will be revived at the annual San Rafael Fiesta, October 23 and 24. Marinita Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, is presenting the affair.

Feature of opening day will be a Spanish market.

Fiesta events on the second day will include a horse show at the high school athletic field and a parade with floats, drill teams, drum and bugle corps and historical entries.

Business And Eats At Housewives Club

Activity permeated the little home at 416 Irvington street at the regular monthly meeting of the Experienced Housewives, Monday afternoon of this week. Nineteen Directors of the Cuisine were "on the dot" for the one o'clock luncheon. The four hostesses, Mesdames Cavagnaro, Rickmann and Frizelle and Miss N. S. F. Rickmann served an elaborate luncheon, consisting of combination vegetable casserole, combination vegetable salad, tuna fish sandwiches, two kinds of pie (peach and grape), coffee and fresh grapes.

After a short business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Edmund Cavagnaro, the session adjourned to spend the remainder of the afternoon at the cooking school which was being conducted at the A. M. Harrison Appliance and Plumbing Shop on Mission street next door to the Daly City Theater. More good things to eat and, best of all, instructions were given by Food Engineer Mrs. Katherine Welch on just how to prepare these tasties for the hungry folks at home. A Wedgewood gas range was also demonstrated while the food was cooking.

The members of the Experienced Housewives Club attending the cooking school were Mesdames Edmund Cavagnaro, F. H. Rickmann, Winnie Frizelle, George Cofer, E. Meeth, Mary White, H. Elmers, Alice Mau, Sydney P. White, Amelia Lewis, D. Hunter, E. R. Bolger, George Lindorff, A. Vireno, Anna Cropsey, Anne Fried and Maude Pitschke and Miss Ruth Lindorff and Miss N. S. F. Rickmann.

Thursday evening, October 28, the recipe committees will meet in special session to make final plans for the cook book, which they are working diligently to complete in time for Christmas. Husbands are not barred from this meeting.

Jefferson Gridders Play Palo Alto

Today the Jefferson gridsters take on Palo Alto on their field. The Indians are a much improved team, due to the return of Balletto and Simpson to the squad. Palo Alto has a strong team centered around their all PAL end, Hank Norberg.

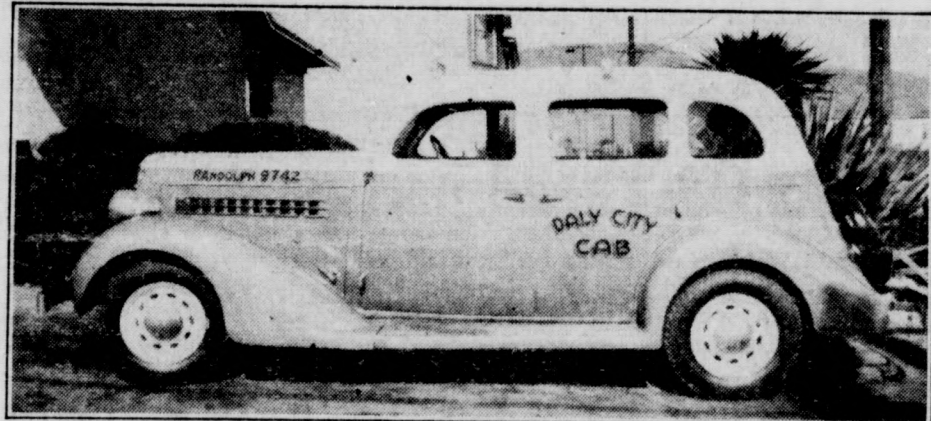

Palo Alto, due to their victory over San Mateo and our loss to Burlingame, will be a pre-game favorite, but a fighting redskin is liable to put the skids under their championship.

Club Of Peninsula Chiefs In Observance Of Fire Prevention

On Friday evening of last week, the Peninsula Fire Chiefs Club, composed of all fire chiefs from San Francisco to San Jose, celebrated Fire Prevention Week by having a display and demonstration of both antique and modern fire apparatus with pictures of fire prevention gathered from all fire departments on the peninsula, at the Menlo Park Fire Department quarters, and on the drill tower.

Chief Hugh Morris, San Mateo, president of the club, gave an interesting talk on fire prevention.

San Mateo County Fire Warden Bert Werder gave a demonstration of rural district and forest fire fighting.

An interesting drill composed of life lines and pomper ladders and the carrying of injured women from the 45-foot tower was put on by fire boys of the Menlo Park fire district.

Salvage work was shown by the Belmont Fire Department.

Battalion Chief George Murray of the San Francisco Fire Department then sent in a major disaster alarm through the Mobile radio transmitter of the U. S. Naval Reserve. Four minutes and six seconds after the alarm was sent in Palo Alto arrived with chief and apparatus. One minute later Stanford University was on the scene, and one minute after their arrival, Redwood City came with one pumper and hook and ladder truck. They immediately put up 65-foot ladder, rescued two women and got an inch and a half hose line by shooting a small line over the tower and then raised a two and a half inch line by means of a pike pole.

Refreshments were served in the fire house by the Menlo Park boys following the demonstration.

The following members of the Daly City Fire Department journeyed down and witnessed this very interesting affair: Chief and Mrs. A. Chesney, Assistant Chief A. Bodien, Captain and Mrs. Jack Coleman, H. Sunderman Jr. and wife, Walter Davis and wife, Fred Mather and wife, and R. Foppiano and E. Cuneo, all of Station Number 4; and Captain and Mrs. F. Peterson of Station Number 1.

News Of Boy Scout Troop No. 141

The presentation of a birthday present to Mr. Young at the last meeting was delayed on account of various pressing matters and will be Alcala variety of cotton has been developed into the variety around which the cotton industry of the Southwest largely centers, and its production reaches a value of $50,000,000 per year.

The date industry of the Southwest, especially in Arizona and California, has been based on government experiments of varieties introduced from the Old World.

Just at present two expeditions, one in India and the other in Turkey, are in the field looking for a succulent vegetable that may serve as a new crop for the South. Vegetables now flourish from February to May, but there is a great need for a seasonal variety which can withstand the hot dry climate of the Southern summers. For these reasons, two hot countries, where vegetables form a large part of the diet of peoples restrained by their religion from eating meat were chosen for field work.

Year after year these government scientists go out to pitch their tents under tropic skies and face innumerable hardships in pursuit of leaf, blade and seed to add to the beauty of our gardens, to prick our appetites with new vegetables and luscious fruit, or to fatten our herds with strange forage crops that first waved across the hot plains of Africa. Certainly we may look on these explorers as true treasure hunters.

taken care of at this week's meeting. Scout Irving Hughes of San Rafael has made application to enter our troop by transfer. He has signified preference for the Waterdog patrol.

The Waterdog patrol met on Tuesday and voted to have a candy sale on the sidewalk near the 5 and 10 store next Saturday. It will be for the purpose of earning money to pay for such items as a patrol flag, which was recently designed, and other patrol equipment.

At the same meeting it was decided to design and construct a set of flag stands for Girl Scout Troop No. 2. This is to be a surprise so we hope they don't read this.

Scouts Glenn Goode and Edward McIntosh were very ambitious on Columbus Day. They "discovered" that they could bundle newspapers, and tied up about a ton ready for the junk man. Paper is still coming in and friends who wish to call for newspapers or magazines may ring Elkridge 2023.

Scout Glenn Goode was honor Scout of the week for his patrol and of the troop with a total of 36 points. He was presented with an oil color portrait of himself for being honor Scout of last month.

CUB PACK 141 NEWS

Several Cubs have formed the "Cub Kindling Company" and are enriching the pack treasury and earning money with which to buy uniforms and equipment. The officers of the newly formed group are: Frankie Develin, president; John Mosman Jr., vice president; and Assistant Den Chief Donald Laston, secretary.

Their efforts are meeting with considerable success and their boy work project bids fair to becoming a very profitable one.

DISTRICT HEAD CURRENT PLAY DISCUSSES AID CLOSES SUNDAY OF STUDENTS AT THE ALCAZAR

At the district board meeting, Monday afternoon of this week in the Burlingame Library, Mrs. Elmer Miller, president of Seventeenth District, stressed the fact that student aid and life memberships are the important considerations of the 41 units of the Parent Teacher Association in San Mateo County at this time.

By student aid is meant contributions of clothing, to be sent to the Student Welfare Shop at 307 South Delaware avenue, San Mateo; or money, which is used to supply high school students with eye glasses and other necessary articles which their families are unable to furnish.

The purchase of a life membership not only serves to confer honor on a deserving member of an organization to whom it may be pressed, but it especially has the advantage of giving another boy or girl an opportunity for attaining a higher education. Through an increased membership, and by having special money raising activities, these worthwhile projects can be met more successfully.

It was announced that the next district meeting will be at the Pescadero High School, Pescadero, Friday morning of next week at 10:30. The session will be known as the Coast-side Conference.

Jefferson Union High School, Daly City, will be the place at which a district conference will be held early in November.

Mrs. Stella Jensen, fifth vice president and director of the Department of Education, will be hostess to the chairmen of her department, Wednesday of next week, at 2 o'clock, to form plans for the November district meeting at the Burlingame High School.

One Of Most Successful Productions Will See Its Last Staging Here

Sunday night will see the last staging by the Federal Theaters at the Alcazar of Eugene O'Neill's Pulitzer Prize play, "Beyond The Horizon."

Opening next Wednesday night will be Julian Thompson's great comedy hit, "The Warrior's Husband."

"Beyond The Horizon" has proved one of the most successful plays produced by the local Theater Project. It has been well patronized and has served to establish the Federal Theaters actors in even greater esteem in the minds of northern California theatergoers. There were more out of town mail reservations for this production than for any other done by Federal Theaters in San Francisco.

"The Warrior's Husband," with a competent cast and elaborate mounting and costuming, will undoubtedly be the ranking achievement of the local government players, according to the opinion of experts who have witnessed rehearsals. It was during the run of this play in New York that Eugene O'Neill wrote in an article in the New York Times:

"The WPA units can present important plays before audiences that have never before seen an actual stage production. The possibilities in this respect are thrilling. One of the chief functions of the government theater project should be a development of new actors and writers. The WPA units are translating into action the fact that the government has an obligation to give a reasonable amount of encouragement and assistance to cultural undertakings."

TEAMS ARE TIED IN HARD GAME

The Indian's final practice game this season took place, Friday of last week, on Jefferson home field with Lick Wilmerding, which was favored to win.

Although Lick scored first, Jefferson came back with a great show of offensive power that set them on the top side of a 13-6 score until the final quarter of the game, when Lick broke down the Indian passing defense to score a second goal, which tied the final knot in a 13-13 score.

"Buzzy" Wright, Jefferson quarterback, split the opposing line to score the first touchdown for the Indians. Then Bud Simpson, who came back after a week's layoff, gave the crowd its biggest thrill of this year when he scored again for the Indians with a beautiful 60-yard run to completely upset the score and also the Lick grid men.

Bob McCune sliced the goal posts with a mighty drop kick, adding the critical point to the score of the game, but Lick came through to make the final tieup of a hard fought battle.

Wright and Simpson were Jefferson's chief threats throughout the whole contest.

Jefferson has regained its former power in the line, which was lost through injuries in the first games this season. From now on the Indians should prove more destructive in their remaining games.

than in the bound assessment roll, and the other concerns numbering of license books.

Both criticisms should have been directed against the controller's office, according to McSweeney, because in both instances the controller prescribes the form of record to be used.

The reforms recommended by the grand jury suggested a simplification of the purchasing procedure and more unity of activity in the various departments. Details will be made public at the meeting of the grand jury next week.

Just what the jury asked the official called into the session was not disclosed, but it was understood the questions dealt with features of the county setup rather than with the integrity or ability of any individual officers.

Jefferson Union High Basketballers Win

Pulling away in the final minutes to win in both contests the Jefferson ten's and twenty's basketball teams, tallied two more victims to their credit.

Playing at the huge Kezar Pavilion inspired the local boys and they came through to win in the closing seconds of both games, the ten's winning 18-16 and the twenty's 13-12. The twenty's trailed St. Ignatius for the major part of the game, but in the final minute Leo Carman rung the basket with a desperate long shot to put the Indians ahead by one point, which they successfully defended for the remaining 45 seconds.

"Jo-Jo" Gaffs A Marlin At Catalina

Youngest angler to gaff a marlin swordfish at Santa Catalina Islands this season is Miles ("Jo-Jo") Overholt Jr., 15. Said he after the 20-minute tussle with the giant swordfish: "The marlin was a gorgeous sight when he leaped from the water and did a butterfly dance and for a time walked on his tail." Time and again the youthful angler had the striped sea tiger up to the boat only to have it head off in the direction of the Chinese war zone. When weighed the marlin tipped the scales at 117 pounds. "Jo-Jo" fought his catch on regulation Tuna Club 24-thread line from a launch captained by Parker Pence. He is pictured on the Avalon pier with his catch.

CLASS VISITS SPLENDID WORK PLANT OF DALY CITY RECORD MERITS PRAISE

Sixth Grade Pupils Shown Mechanics Involved In Production Of Newspaper

The sixth grade of the Woodrow Wilson Elementary School, accompanied by their teacher Miss Varni, visited the Daly City Record, Friday of last week, to visualize the processes involved in the publishing of a newspaper.

W. E. Pitschke, editor of the Record and Mrs. Pitschke were delighted at the unusual interest displayed by the entire group, as this was the first class of school children to visit the local paper.

A comprehensive survey, beginning with the initial process of the Linotype to the finished product of the newspaper, succeeded in satisfying the many inquiries aroused. The most interesting mechanism to the group was the Linotype machine. "It seemed to do just everything," was the expression conveyed by a majority of the class. All the painstaking efforts toward the manufacture of a newspaper are performed by this complete unit.

Explanations also were made as to the use of the hand proof press and the casting device, as each plays an important part in any newspaper. As a final step in the completion of the paper, the drum cylinder continued to print and cut the pages—thus a finished product.

Local Troop Has Passed Practically All Preliminary Tests Required

Saturday of last week, the Oak Patrol of Daly City Girl Scout Troop No. 2 took a hike in the hills east of Daly City, with fire building as their objective. The rudiments of outdoor fire building were taught to the girls by their captain, Mrs. Al-dyth Fox.

Many of the girls of Troop No. 2 are progressing so rapidly in their Scout work that they will soon have passed all their Second Class requirements and will be eligible for their Second Class badge. Considering the comparatively short length of time this troop has been in operation, it is gratifying to the leaders and sponsors of the organization to note the interest shown and the wide strides of advancement made by the girls in all branches of the work.

As one of the First Class Scout tests is to swim fifty yards, the girls are planning to learn swimming at the Y. W. C. A. pool in San Francisco. Arrangements are being made to acquire group swim tickets for the girls at reduced prices.
